Three firms eye hospital control

By RICH ADAMS
The Hancock General Hospital Board of Trustees Tuesday requested three hospital management companies conduct surveys, eyeing a possible management contract to one of the three companies, according to Board President, Rev. Charles Johnson.

New Orleans, La.; HCA Management Company; and Hospital Affiliated Management Corporation, both of Nashville, Tenn. to inspect the hospital. The surveys will be conducted at no charge to the hospital, Johnson noted. Qualicare is currently managing Gulf Coast Community Hospital in Biloxi, the board president added.

"Our main concern is to get things turned around and get the hospital prospering again," Johnson said late Wednesday afternoon. "I want to make it clear that neither we nor the companies have any intentions of selling or leasing the hospital. This is just a management proposition," he continued. "Either the companies will come back and offer us a contract to manage the facility for a certain amount of money or they will tell us they want no part of the hospital," Johnson added. The board president said the company receiving the contract would decide whether Hospital Administrator Harry Gilmore will remain at that position.

Also Wednesday, sources reported that Dr. Joseph Nodduff, hospital chief of staff, presented the board with a letter at Tuesday's meeting stating former staff doctor Sidney Chevis and John D. Rutherford III will return to the hospital staff.

Airport road delayed again

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission project to upgrade its industrial park road at Stennis International Airport again faces delays. Commission Director W. Wilson Wehre told the Hancock County Board of Supervisors at its Monday morning meeting, "Leslie Newcomb, director of South Mississippi Planning and Development District, advised us that we're going to have to file new applications for the project."

The commission's Economic Development Administration loan applications for the Stennis Industrial Park Road began some three years ago. It is estimated that the original $235,000 project cost has risen to $329,000, some 40 percent.

Presently, a gravel road is the only access to the airport industrial park sites.

Wehre said the EDA funds were for asphalt paving, a water line, fire protection and sewer crossings.

"We have a prospect for the industrial park if we get that road blacktopped... a prospect who wants to develop property near the former McKee Door plant building," Wehre reported. In discussion at a recent port and harbor meeting, Commissioner Victor Frankiewicz stated, "A big problem with this application has been the bureaucrats in Jackson and Atlanta."

"They want us to update budget figures and our local employment data, but their biggest question is the budget information," Frankiewicz explained.

Engineer Mike Smith of Advanced Developments, Inc. of Bay St. Louis reported at the commission meeting, "Some $235,000 was the original budget for the project at 1977 prices."

"I estimate the project to be 40 percent more than the original cost," he added.

Frankiewicz said, "We're getting so far into the winter months with this project we're missing good construction weather."

"There's no problem with the bureaucrats," he added.

When several commission members suggested speeding up the applications so the bidding process could begin, Smith stated, "I've taken a lot of flack about this project and the problem with this is right in Jackson."

Foreign, California travelers increasing

Tourists in record numbers stopping at Hancock center

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Hancock County Welcome Center on I-10 near Pearllington reported a record number of visitors during the first two weeks of August, including vast numbers of foreign travelers. Also, relatively large numbers of Californians are traveling to various destinations in Mississippi.

Welcome Center Manager Lillian Dillard of Pass Christian said Monday afternoon, "From Aug. 1-17 we recorded 15,948 visitors here."

"During the same period in July we welcomed 13,389 people and in the same June period we recorded 12,388," the manager reported.

Dillard said hostesses at the Hancock County facility greeted 24,134 travelers in July which was the most visitors stopping at any Mississippi welcome center during that month.

"It looks like we're going to again be the most visited welcome center in the state," Dillard speculated.

In June 22,585 people stopped at the I-10 center.

Regarding foreign travelers, the manager reported hundreds of overseas visitors are stopping at the Welcome Center. Dillard attributes the foreign visitor influx resulting from the international devaluation of the U.S. dollar.

"Everyone stopping here from abroad says it's much cheaper to travel in the U.S. rather than in Europe," Dillard explained.

"In July we had 105 German visitors and 107 from England," Dillard reported.

Other foreign visitors stopping at the center reside in Egypt, Israel, Ben-

Diamondhead Corp. moving, changing name, philosophy

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Diamondhead Corp. officials announced this week its 'principal office' is now being moved from Hancock County to Pinehurst, N.C. and a change in corporate philosophy is evolving.

Treasurer Larry Bridges of the Diamondhead Corp., said in Pinehurst Tuesday afternoon, "Effective Aug. 29 our corporate name will be changed to the Purcell Co., Inc."

"We are moving all of our principal corporate offices to Pinehurst except our Legal Department which will stay in Diamondhead," the corporate treasurer reported.

The legal department consists of four people.

Last week, Diamondhead Project Vice President and Manager Holcomb Hector said Corporate President Artis James would maintain an office in Hancock County, but Bridges said this week, "Mr. James will be located in Pinehurst."

When asked the reason for the name change, Bridges explained, "Diamondhead has been a land sale company. We feel our emphasis is swinging into the housing construction market which includes the sale of single family homes and condominiums."

"There has been a change in the philosophy of the company," he added.

Hector revealed last week that construction of a $4 million condominium townhouse complex is underway and more condominiums were in the planning stages for the Diamondhead Community.

Bridges said the new corporate name is in honor of entrepreneur Malcolm Purcell McClean, the major stockholder of the Diamondhead Corp.

"Basically, there will be no change so far as the Hancock County Diamondhead Project is concerned," Bridges said.

Pinehurst and Diamondhead are two of seven land and housing development subsidiaries owned by the Diamondhead Corp.

Bridges would not comment about reports that the move was designed to improve management of the Pinehurst operation, but he confirmed the North Carolina subsidiary is more than $74 million in debt.

"Effective June 13, the executive management agreement between Pinehurst, Inc. and Victor Palmieri and Co., Inc. was terminated. Pinehurst is now managed by Diamondhead," Bridges stated.

"...the commitment letter entered into in February, 1980 among Diamondhead; McLean Securities, Inc.; Malcolm McLean; Pinehurst, Inc.; and Pinehurst's principal lending banks has been terminated and the loan agreements and documents with such principal lending banks has been terminated and the loan agreements and documents with such principal lending banks, as restructured in December, 1978, remain in effect," the treasurer noted.

"During April and June, McLean Securities advanced $3 million to Pinehurst and in July Malcolm McLean advanced $250,000 to Pinehurst for operating expenses," the corporate treasurer said.

"Pinehurst is considering and discussing with the banks a paydown

Candidate qualifying deadlines announced

Henry L. Otis, Hancock County circuit clerk, said this week all five seats on the County Election Commission will be filled in the November General Election as well as the Hancock County School Board seats in Beats 1 and 2.

The deadline to qualify as a candidate for any of these offices is 5 p.m. Friday, September 5.

Each candidate for those offices must file a petition signed by at least 50 qualified electors (voters) residing in the candidate's beat, requesting that the candidate's name be placed on the ballot.

Persons signing petitions in the school board race must also reside outside of the Bay-Waveland Municipal Separate School District and in the same beat as the candidate.

Also, each candidate must declare in writing his or her party affiliation (Democratic, Republican, or Independent) which shall be on the ballot.

Petitions for election commission candidates must be filed with chancery clerk E. Michael Necale, secretary of the County Board of Supervisors.

Petitions for the school board election shall be filed with the County Election Commission in the circuit clerk's office.

In the school board races, the high man running for each office wins, even if he does not have a majority of the votes.

In the election commission races, if a candidate does not have a majority, there will be a run-off between the two top men two weeks after the General Election.

Anyone interested in being a candidate may call the Circuit Clerk's office at 467-5288 for more information.

Husband charged in home damages

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay St. Louis Police with the assistance of Hancock County sheriff's deputies have arrested Terry Burr, 23, Clermont Harbor and charged him for allegedly destroying government property.

Matt Karl, Bay investigator stated, "Saturday morning we received a call about a domestic quarrel on St. George Street. Bud Dennis, Bay patrolman, went to 426 St. George St. and saw physical damage to a residence, but no one was at home."

Karl continued, "I was called and we contacted Mrs. Burr, who was legally separated from her husband. We contacted her at a friend's house and she told us where her husband was staying."

staying."

Karl stated that his department had a simple assault warrant from a previous complaint against Terry Burr.

Hancock Deputy Harold Heine and Auxiliary Deputy David Murtagh and Bay police went to Clermont Harbor and picked up Burr on the simple assault warrant and saw visible damage to his car, according to Karl.

The house with the damage belongs to Farmers Home Loan Administration, so a charge of destroying government property in addition to resisting arrest was filed against Burr, according to police.

Burr is out on a $5,000 property bond and is scheduled to appear before Bay City Judge Joseph Benvenuti.

PCP spill has no effect here

A Gulf Coast Research Laboratory scientist in Ocean Springs said this week the PCP chemical spill in Louisiana has not affected Mississippi waters.

"At this time, we don't feel that Mississippi waters are being contaminated by the PCP that was spilled recently in the Mississippi River-Gulf Outlet in Louisiana," said Dr. Bill Walker of the GCRL.

Walker, a microbiologist in charge of analyzing samples for PCP, said that water, sediment and tissue samples collected August 12 and 13 revealed low-level background concentrations of the chemical similar to results of tests that were run by the Laboratory on two previous sets of samples.

"We are still seeing less than 1 part per billion PCP in all of our water samples, and in six out of seven samples, it was less than one-tenth of one part per billion," Walker said.

This information indicates that Mississippi is not getting any influence from the Louisiana spill.

However, the Laboratory PCP sampling and analysis program will continue indefinitely, Dr. Harold Howse, director, said earlier.

Walker said the next samples will be taken in about two to three weeks.

of approximately $30 million of the $74,700,000 outstanding by the transfer to the banks of accounts receivable, and restructuring the balance of the loan in a manner suitable to its principal lending banks," he explained.

Unaudited financial results for the first six months of 1980 show the corporation's net earnings at almost $3 million. However, the financial statement excludes figures for Pinehurst.

The Diamondhead Corp. was previously headquartered in Algiers, La., and moved to Mississippi in February, 1979.

Other Diamondhead subsidiaries include Lake Arrowhead near Atlanta; Sand Piper Cove in Destin, Fla.; Lake Forest in Mobile; Falconhead in Ardmore, Okla.; and Newport in Houston.

Thigpen honored on 90th birthday

Sea Coast Echo historical columnist S. Grady Thigpen Sr. this week is celebrating his 90th birthday.

Among individuals and groups honoring the widely-read columnist and author of six books is the Hancock County Historical Society, which passed a certified resolution citing Thigpen as an "outstanding person" and "wishing him many more years of service to his community."

The Pearl River Historical Society joined with the Picayune chapter of American Association of Retired Persons and the Pearl River Friends of the Library in sponsoring a reception Sunday afternoon honoring Thigpen and his wife of 64 years.

Thigpen was also honored at another reception Monday afternoon at the First National Bank in Picayune which he founded in 1947.

Thigpen's son, S.G. Thigpen Jr. is currently president of that bank and mayor of Picayune.

The Pearl River Historical Society, in addition, placed an historical marker in front of Thigpen Hardware in Picayune which the elder Thigpen founded in 1919.

Thigpen first came to Pearl River County which was then part of Hancock County in 1912 when he taught school in Poplarville.

He later moved to Picayune where he worked for the Crosby family before opening his hardware store on Hwy. 11 in which he still maintains an active interest.

He previously has been named "Citizen of the Year" by the Picayune Chamber of Commerce.

Thigpen's birthday was Monday.

Handicapped boy grieves lost pet

An 11-year-old handicapped boy this week is grieving over the loss of his dog in the Cedar Point area of Bay St. Louis.

His small tan-to-brown Peek-A-Poo male puppy disappeared in the 800 block of Dunbar Avenue about 9:30 p.m. Tuesday night.

The youth's parents have issued an urgent appeal for the return of the animal by anyone who may have mistaken him for a stray, or for any other information on the lost pet.

A reward is being offered for the return of "Turkey." For information, call 467-2120.

Sheriff investigating cemetery desecrations

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson reports the tampering with four graves in the Sandhill Cemetery, Standard Community.

Peterson stated, "We received a call from the parents of a four year-old girl's body which was buried three years ago having had the dirt removed all the way down to the coffin at Sandhill cemetery."

"Early Monday morning we went to the cemetery to find the soil tampered with around four graves. Three out of the four were of young children and three were members of the same family," Peterson added.

The sheriff said he did not know the reason for such activities and reported his office was going to do a thorough investigation.

Peterson commented, "I really do not know the motive or cause for the disturbance of graves in the Hancock County cemetery. It possibly could be 'spite' by someone against one of the families since three of the disturbances were to graves of one family."

Investigator Delbert Seay is in charge of the investigation. Constable Phillip Malley, Deputy Nathan Hoda, Seay and Peterson visited the cemetery Monday.

The sheriff said the graves are those of members of Peterson and Moran families.

NOTICE NEW PERMANENT HOURS

Beginning Saturday, Aug. 30, the Waveland Small Animal Hospital will be closed on Saturdays. The hospital will be open by appointment Mon., Tues., Wed., and Fri. from 8:30 a.m. to noon and from 3 to 5 p.m. The hospital will be open from 8:30 a.m. until noon Thursday.

One-car mishap injures driver

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A one vehicle accident on US-90 near Bayou Phillips sent the driver to Hancock General with cuts and bruises, according to Highway Patrolman Herahel Laidner.

Laidner said that Brannon Woodward, Pearl River, La., was traveling west on the service road and lost control, hit the median, crossed the west lane of the highway and ended up in the median between east and west lanes.

Woodward was the lone passenger in the vehicle when the accident occurred at 4:30 p.m. Monday. Mobile Medic transported him to Hancock General where he was given emergency treatment and then lodged at the Hancock County Jail.

Laidner said Woodward was charged with reckless driving, driving under the influence and expired Louisiana driver's license.

He is scheduled to appear before Justice Court Judge Lee Klein.

LOOKING? KEEP A RECORD

Buying a home is a big investment and involves major decisions. So, it's understandable why so much time and care is taken when looking for a home that's right for you. No one knows this better than your local Realtor.

Once the Realtor takes on the assignment of finding you a home, he'll probably show you several. Therefore, it's important to take notes on what you have seen or you may forget which home is where, how big it is, what shape it's in, and how much it costs.

Your Realtor can provide you with a checklist to make this important task easier. This way, you can rate each home as you see it and instantly recall the location, price, construction, number of rooms, heat, fuel, taxes, and financial requirements. If you have a Polaroid picture of the house to go with the notes - so much the better when describing it to your other half.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at PRESSMAN REALTY, 1532 Hwy. 90 W., Waveland. Phone 467-2234. We're here to help!

Council seeks bids on Small Cities job

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Bay St. Louis Council decided to advertise for bids Tuesday night for the road preparation work necessary to have black topping done on the 500 blocks of Washington, Sycamore and Keller Streets.

The action came after the Hancock County Board of Supervisors indicated it would be better for the Bay to advertise since the amount of money involved would be too high for a change bid.

The supervisors have already accepted bids for the overlay work from Necaise Construction Company. The county was to do the overlay provided Bay St. Louis took care of the preparation work.

The engineering firm of Broadway and Seals were unanimously approved for the preparation of plans and specifications and preparation of necessary legal advertising.

Council requested, as a normal practice, to see the advertisement before being submitted for publication.

Donn Murray, representative of Broadway and Seal, said it should not take long to prepare the necessary documents and the fee would be not more than ten percent of the project.

Eve McDonald, Senior Citizens coordinator for Hancock County, in addition to several members appeared before the Council requesting help with electrical problems at the VCJ complex.

Mrs. McDonald said, "We have over 130 senior citizens calling us each week wondering when will the kilns for the ceramics be back in operation. We feel like this is an emergency."

Henry Prevou, electrical inspector for the Bay, said the building was constructed as a school with lights and none of the demand on the electrical system the building is now getting.

Prevou suggested the division of the power into four separate services, one for the ceramic shop, police department, fire department and another for the rest of the building.

In taking care of the ceramics department, Prevou suggested ways to cure their problems and is to bring a detailed report to the Council.

Prevou added, "I will do anything I can do to help these people, (senior citizens) I will take all of my time needed to work with electrical contractors or whatever is necessary to help solve the electrical problems."

Council President Pete Benvenuti reported that the Council had contacted Omer DeBever to give a proposal on a study of the whole VCJ complex.

Council by a 3-1 vote passed the final payment be made to the contractor on the 1978 Small Cities project. Harry Farve opposed the payment until complaints by two residents of the area were satisfied with repairs of damages being looked into by the contractors insurance company.

Joe Brown III reported the 1979 Small Cities project involving the 500 blocks of Main, DeMontuiz, State and St. John Streets is 69 percent complete with 39 percent of time on contract elapsed.

In his report Brown said, "The contractor had projected on his progress schedule that he would be 73 percent complete as of this date, and is slightly behind that projection. His progress to date, however, is good and this should be no cause for alarm at this time."

Council took under study a proposal from Brown for the 1980 utility report at a cost of $2,500.

Charles Hirstius, spokesman for the Spanish Acres Subdivision residents, questioned the closing of the temporary exits to the subdivision.

The spokesman also talked about a public hearing in June declaring the dump a public hazard and reported nothing has been done.

Council President Pete Benvenuti reported that he understood that Mayor Larry Bennett had been in conversation recently with the owner and should have a report.

Bill Johnston, superintendent, said the city had closed the temporary exits stating, "We found crab shells and all types of garbage thrown along side the road. We had to send a truck out to pick it up."

Board Attorney Joseph Gex said he has been in contact with the owners of other property which possibly could be used for a second exits for Spanish Acres.

Gex said the owners were talking about the possibility of a playground deal with the city and that this was discussed several years ago by the city and dropped.

Hirstius inquired if the city would be interested in a playground in the back of the subdivision if the association or several owners purchased some of the lots.

All Council members seemed in agreement with the idea.

"During the time since the last meeting nothing has been done with the perimeter ditches cleanup in the subdivision," Hirstius commented.

Johnson, speaking on behalf of Bennett, requested authority to repair ten locations where sewer breaks have been restored.

Fred Wagner stated, "I think the mayor needs to recommend where the money is going to come from to purchase the asphalt."

Other Council members seemed to have the same response as Kelly McQueen, city clerk, reported last month that the city was going to be over spending about $90,000 unless all spending was not curbed during the last two months of the fiscal year.

Senior Aides opening Waveland craft shop

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A Senior AIDES Program marketing outlet will open in Waveland Sept. 2. Local handicapped and senior citizens are being encouraged to bring hand-crafted items to sell at the store.

The outlet is located next to the Waveland Hospitality Center on U.S. 90 and has been named the Forget-Me-Not.

Director Frances Adkins of the Gulfport based Senior AIDES Program announced Wednesday morning, "The Waveland shop will be open at 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Aug. 25-29 so people 55 years and older, and all handicapped persons of any age may bring merchandise to place on consignment."

"The general public is cordially invited to attend the grand opening which will be 10 a.m. Sept. 2. Mayor John Longo will officiate at ribbon cutting ceremonies," Adkins reported.

The program director said the Waveland store will feature such items as afghans, quilts, macramé plant hangers, old fashioned bonnets, aprons, stuffed toys, and ceramics all produced by senior citizens and the handicapped.

"Not only does this stimulate the use of local talent, but provides additional income for these craftsmen," Adkins explained.

Lila Greenfield of Waveland will be coordinator for the craft outlet.

Building materials for the Forget-Me-Not were provided by the City of Waveland.

The 14-foot by 30-foot building shell was constructed by high school building trade students at Pearl River Junior College Hancock County Vo-Tech Training Center at Stennis International Airport.

Interior finishing work for the shop was provided by Senior AIDES Home Maintenance Program personnel.

Adkins reported, "Through the talents of Mr. and Mrs. Stanleigh Morrison of Bay St. Louis a most unique and beautiful sign depicting the blue Forget-Me-Not will be placed on top of the building."

Senior AIDES is sponsored by the Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District based in Gulfport and the program serves several south Mississippi counties.

Help the United Way

The 17th annual United Way of Hancock County Campaign is underway with contributions being solicited for the 14 agencies supported by the agency.

Letters are being sent to contributors of previous years, personal visits are being made by volunteers of the United Way.

The 1980 campaign chairman is Richard (Dick) Kosbab, as many of you already know. The goal of $40,000 is very realistic and can be reached with the help of everyone.

There are very fine agencies supported by the United Way of Hancock County.

The agencies supported are the Hancock County Emergency Relief, Gulf Coast Mental Health, Mississippi Epilepsy, Inc., Hancock Chapter of the American Red Cross, Hancock County Blood Bank, Senior Citizen Programs, Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), Salvation Army, Goodwill Industries, U.S.O. (worldwide), Gulf Pines Girl Scouts Council, Cypress District Boy Scouts, and the Fireman's Doll and Toy Fund.

Everyday of the year United Way supported agencies are working in Hancock County. Thousands of folks are helped each year by the various agencies.

From our youth in scouting to numerous Senior Citizen Programs all ages of our community are aided and helped by the United Way.

We hope that when you are called on, you will help this very worthwhile drive.

Give the United Way... Thanks to you, it works for all of us.

Bits-N-Pieces

By Ellis Cuevas

For many years the Sea Coast Echo has been publishing columns by S.G. (Grandpa) Thigpen on the history of Hancock County.

Monday was a historical day for Grandpa Thigpen, as he celebrated his 90th birthday. As we all are aware, not too many of us will be round for a 90th birthday.

We want to extend a happy birthday greeting to Mr. Thigpen on his 90th.

We are always being stopped on the streets by readers who tell us how much they appreciate the historical reports about Hancock written by the Picayune historian.

We would also like to commend the Hancock Historical Society's passing a resolution honoring Grandpa Thigpen.

Schools are now open and buses are busy picking-up and returning children home each school day.

All traffic must stop whenever a bus stops and extends the flag for stopping.

In a conversation with Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson, he said he would like to remind motorists that even on US-90, traffic must stop in both the east and west lanes whenever a bus stops to discharge children.

We are told that all local police are going to enforce the no passing of a stopped school bus.

The reason this law is in effect, of course, is obvious to everyone, that being for the protection of our youth.

While thinking about school buses, we would like to remind ourselves to drive slow in our school zones.

Saturday night Waveland's American Legion Post No. 77 will hold its annual awards banquet and dance.

Persons to be honored are not known by us, but we understand a lot of thought and preparation has been done by the members of the Legion post on this matter.

We are told by a spokesman of the post that music will be provided by Garland Moran and the Night Travelers and a good time can be expected by those attending the big celebration at the Legion Home on Coleman Avenue.

We think it is great for the American Legion to make such awards to our citizens and we would like to offer our congratulations to the winners to be made Saturday night.

The Hancock County Historical Society should be commended for the fine job of gathering information for the new brochure on the Walking Tours of Downtown Bay St. Louis.

We know a lot of work and effort had to go into gathering all the historical information.

The Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service, Department of Interior, and Mississippi of Archives and History should be remembered for their part in the project.

Having worked in one of the buildings featured for more than 20 years makes us feel very proud of the publication which lists 17 historical locations in downtown Bay St. Louis.

RED CROSS DISASTER UNIT-Hancock County Red Cross volunteer Robert Clark, left, supplies Diamondhead Fire Captain Richard Pate and members of Kila Fire Department with ice water and soft drinks during a fire Tuesday in Jourdan River Shores. Clark was the first unit to arrive at the fire and call in a report to Diamondhead, according to Red Cross Chairman Ed Friloux. The Red Cross Disaster Services Unit will be on location at all fires and other disasters to supply refreshments and first aid to firemen and disaster crews, Friloux said. In addition, a large camper equipped with communication gear for the Civil Defense will be available for mutual use by the Red Cross in case of a major disaster as a communications post or first aid station. Friloux said both units will be on display at fairs in Hancock County.

Senator Cochran reports

Senator Thad Cochran is sponsoring legislation allowing a tax deduction for expenses of adopting a child.

"This legislation should help those persons who are anxious and willing to adopt a child, but are discouraged from doing so by the high costs of the adoption process," Senator Cochran commented.

A Senate Finance Committee report last year cited the cost of foster care under the Aid for Dependent Children program as more than $351 million in 1977, while allowing for deduction of reasonable fees and expenses would cost the U.S. Treasury only $50 to $60 million in annual revenue.

There are approximately 150,000 child adoptions each year in the nation, and the Senator pointed out, "Even under ideal circumstances an adoption is a lengthy, tedious and expensive process. This high cost is due in part to federal and state laws, and Supreme Court rulings relating to adoptions, child custody and parental rights."

Senator Cochran said he and other Senators sponsoring S.2959 "believe that every child in America should have the opportunity to share the love and warmth of a family, and each family ought to have the opportunity to share with a child in need.

"We believe our bill strengthens the adoption process by removing some of the economic disincentives through a tax break. There is no such thing as an unwanted child as long as there are qualified parents who want a child."

LETTERS To The Editor

Confused citizen sees need

for Waveland-Bay city limit signs

Dear Sir,
I am a concerned citizen of Hancock County. Involving the City of Waveland and the Bay St. Louis Fire Department.

On the 8th day of August, I was issued a permit by the Bay St. Louis Fire Department for a bonfire on the beach. The time I was issued the permit, I told the person at the fire department I wanted to build a fire at the beach at Henderson Point.

They told me it had to be in Hancock County.

I've only lived in Hancock for the past two years.

I am not aware of the streets in Bay St. Louis, and Waveland. There are no markers on the beach.

The Waveland police came by while the fire was blazing and asked if we had a permit. We told him yes, he left. Later came back with the fire truck.

The fire was burned down to just coals, a gallon of water could have put it out if there had been a fire.

Someone's house could have burned down, while they were putting out our coals.

The cop informed us that the City of Waveland did not issue permits for bonfires.

Since that time I have seen several fires on the beach in the vicinity of where we were.

I think there needs to be some action taken, and some city limits signs posted.

Waveland doesn't want to keep up the beach or the roads, so why should they have the right to write tickets or tell you you can't have a bonfire.

No houses were close where we were on the beach, none across the street.

The point in writing this letter is to bring attention to the fact that there are no city limit signs posted.

So how is anyone to know whether they are in Bay St. Louis or Waveland.

A Concerned Citizen,
Shirley Stinson

design a facility that is constitutional, cost effective, and capable of meeting the present and future needs of Hancock County.

All of the above is predicated on the basis of sound planning, therefore we must commit ourselves to a process that will ultimately result in a mirror image of a correctional philosophy that Hancock County chooses to adopt.

In order to follow-up on the great start we have, I would like to suggest that we get together in the near future and begin the planning process and set basic goals and objectives.

Also, the results and evaluation of

Dear Sirs:

In the past two months, I have read statements concerning HGH written by physicians, politicians, and patients. As a representative of the nursing staff, these are my opinions and my qualifications.

I have been employed and worked for private, teaching and service hospitals in the capacity of nurse's aide, operating room technician, medic in the Air Force, and after graduation from Charity Hospital of N.O., La., ICU nurse, OR nurse, and head nurse in the surgical unit of Tulane Hospital and Clinic in N.O.

Since I moved to the Bay Saint Louis area, I have been employed at Hancock General Hospital. In a little more than a year, I have worked on the floor as a staff nurse, and for a year as the operating room and recovery room supervisor. However, when needed, I continue to help out with patient care as a staff nurse.

I honestly feel the patient care at HGH is as good as any care given elsewhere if not better. The staff here at HGH has worked overtime and short-handed and continued to care not only

The People's Business

STRIKING A BALANCE

The American enterprise system is based on a unique balance between free enterprise and the central national government.

While free enterprise has provided the freedom and quality of life that Americans enjoy, the central national government also has a role in the marketplace that must be understood and appreciated by the American public.

Economic freedom is the opposite of a government-planned or -operated economy. It is the opposite of government-controlled labor markets and nationalized industries. It is the opposite of unnecessary or unreasonable government controls, rules, or regulations which place unrealistic restrictions on business.

Yet, government plays a vital role in our economic system. Government provides the necessary framework for operation of the system. Without certain basic governmental institutions and practices, our system of production and exchange would not operate.

The president of a large southern corporation recently encouraged American businessmen to:

-Make a commitment to work for the preservation of the free enterprise system;

-Review business policies and actions concerning the free enterprise system;

-Take a public stand at every opportunity to speak in support of the free enterprise system;

-Promote teaching the principles of the free enterprise system in schools and colleges;

-Promote an awareness and appreciation of the free enterprise system among employees; and

-Keep informed on critical state and national legislation affecting business and work for proper action by lawmakers.

These steps are also advocated by the Mississippi Economic Council's American Enterprise Center. These steps are essential if the balance between business and government is to be maintained.

Bids necessary to lay water line

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday morning authorized the County Port and Harbor Commission to advertise for bids on installation of a 560-foot water main to Borg-Warner Corp.'s Port Blenville Industrial Park site property line.

The commission last week passed a resolution, pending the supervisor's approval, authorizing a Texas company which is installing Borg-Warner's water system to run the 560-foot line for $6,700.

However, Board President A.A. (Dolph) Kellar objected to an out-of-state firm receiving the water line contract.

"We do have local people with backhoes and other equipment who could do that job," Kellar stated.

Commission Director W. Wilson Webre reported, "It has been the policy of the board to provide water to the property line of an industrial site."

"Borg-Warner crews are putting in their water lines in two weeks. The most expedient way to provide water would be to let their contractors do the work," Webre suggested.

District One Supervisor Bert Courge said, "If they start installing water lines for the plant in two weeks they won't be finished for quite a while."

Webre explained bidding would require detailed specifications by a qualified engineer. The director estimated engineering services would cost approximately $2,000.

Webre replied, "We don't need an engineer to install a water line."

Board Attorney Walter Cox advised Webre there was some question in state statutes as to what contracts were subject to bidding.

District Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner suggested to Webre, "Couldn't you draw up your own specifications and have local people bid on the job?"

Webre said, "I guess we have no alternative but to bid."

"This commission has a working relationship with the board. We can save some time by allowing this company to do the work, but if the board wants the commission to bid this work..." Webre explained.

Kellar said, "The board can't direct the commission to do anything."

In other business, at the 9 a.m. regular meeting in the Courthouse, the board:

—Authorized a state aid project recommended by County Engineer Lawrence Seal to repave and widen Standard-Dedeaux and Ansley Roads, and a portion of Blue Meadow Road from Bay Senior High School to Jourdan River. Seal said the project would improve some 12 miles of county roads;

—Authorized Broadway and Seal Engineers of Piquette through Gulf Regional Planning Commission to apply for Department of Housing and Urban Development 1981 Small Cities Program funds as recommended by Federal Programs Coordinator Ronnie Murray of Bay St. Louis. Murray said up to $3 million will be available and after he attends a September seminar he would have a list of eligible activities;

—Authorized bid advertisement for a police band radio for the District Three constable as recommended by Ladner;

—Authorized real and personal property assessment roles as submitted by Assessor-Tax Collector Edward D. Murtagh Jr.;

—Accepted two plats in White Cypress Lakes' Mallard Point for the subdivision's Phase Five and Six developments as recommended by County Planning Commission Attorney John Scaffie. The supervisors also approved preliminary plans and waived a preliminary hearings for the developments;

—Accepted a resolution from the port and harbor commission authorizing bid advertisement for repainting the Port Blenville water tower;

—Accepted a resolution from the Kiln Water and Fire Protection District calling for a Sep. 15 hearing for the annexation of the Rocky Hill-Firetower Road area into the water district. Water District Attorney Mike Haas of Bay St. Louis said a second hearing date will be set to hear any objections to the district's extension;

—Accepted a $6,401 bid submitted by Turan-Lane Chevrolet of Bay St. Louis for a McLeod Park pickup truck;

—Accepted a port and harbor commission resolution authorizing a "release and discharge agreement" with Delta Exploration Co.;

—Approved a notary bond for

Rosemary Blaize of Bay St. Louis; —Took under advisement a $421 bid from Electrocom, Inc. of New Orleans for a two-channel FM radio for the Kiln Fire Department;

—Received a letter from the State Tax Commission approving the county's method for reassessment.

Engineers permit actions told

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Mobile District has reported issuance of an after-the-fact permit in July to Steve Knight Jr. for completed removal of material and construction of bulkhead in Port Blenville Industrial Park off Mulatto Bayou in Hancock County.

Also among July permit actions, the district reports cancellation or withdrawal of a permit to Robert M. Ripetoe for bulkhead, fill riprap and boat ramp on Mallini Bayou in Harrison County.

The district issued authorization under a Mississippi general permit to Michael W. Haas for construction of a pier and boat ramp on Bayou Galeve in Hancock County.

Ronald Chaisson was authorized to construct a bulkhead and wharf in an unnamed canal off the Bay of St. Louis near Pass Christian in Harrison County under the same general permit, the Corps reports.

Shoreline man booked

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson reports that Jimmie Jordan Jr., 20, Avenue D, Shoreline Park Subdivision, has been charged with the alleged rape of a housewife in the subdivision Monday morning.

Peterson said, "Jordan, who is six-foot, six, and weighs 425 pounds, turned himself in at the Hancock sheriff's office Tuesday, saying he heard we were looking for him."

Jordan had previously lived in the county and had left for a stay in Pennsylvania and returned three weeks ago, according to police.

Peterson reported, "We were seeking the subject as he fit the description of the person given by the housewife who reported he allegedly had a white handle knife."

The mother was at home with a small child when the incident happened and her husband was at work," the sheriff reported.

"The victim said she was forced into her bedroom by the subject when he entered her home and allegedly raped her," Peterson allowed. The culprit then fled on foot.

Jordan is under a $20,000 bond and is scheduled to appear before Justice Court Bruce Necaise Sept. 3 for a preliminary hearing.

Investigator Alvin Ladner, in addition to Peterson, is handling the case.

In other police matters, a Shoreline Park resident is out on a $5,000 property bond for allegedly shooting at a 14-year-old boy in a boat.

Peterson stated, "We received a call late Tuesday from Mrs. Eileen Billie on Pennsylvania Street in Shoreline Park reporting her son and some other children were in a boat when a person fired a .22 rifle at them and missed her son by only three feet."

"Hancock Captain Paul Bernard and Deputy Steve Landry arrested Dave Bass, 53, Shoreline Park, after Mrs. Billie signed an affidavit against Bass Peterson added.

Alcan magazine profiles Farve

By EDGAR PEREZ

Bay St. Louis City Councilman Harry Farve, machine operator at the Alcan Cable facility here, is cited this month in People In Profile, a regular feature in Alcan USA, the company's employee magazine.

Farve, the first black elected to the Bay St. Louis council, is in the third year of his first four-year term.

"I'm up for re-election next year, and I'm debating whether I'll run, weighing the good aspects against the bad. And right now the good outweighs the bad," Farve is quoted in the article.

The magazine reports Farve so far has not heard of any planned opposition to his candidacy for re-election, and he says he hopes he remains unopposed if only from the economic standpoint.

"A campaign's a lot cheaper if you're the only person in it," the councilman stated.

"I think we owe it to our communities to give back some of the things they have given to us, and by serving as a councilman, I feel I am doing that, helping make Bay St. Louis a better place to live," Farve added.

"You have to be highly-sensitive to people's needs and expectations because they're the reason you're sitting on the council. They're the ones who put you there," he concluded.

The magazine noted Farve "...may be the only machine operator in the entire company who has the plant's receptionist screen his phone calls for him."

"But when you're a city councilman in a small, 10,000 population community like this one, and vice president of city council at that, it's tough to avoid dealing with constituents' problems, at any time they choose," the article's author said of the councilman.

"There's no way you're going to get an application through in 30-40 days. We're now looking at a year or so more with these new applications."

"Six weeks ago we sent in 'new' forms," Smith added.

Commissioner Ronnie Artigues of Bay St. Louis stated, "In other words, everytime we start the ball game they change the rules."

Wehre told the supervisors Monday, because of increased costs, "I will recommend withdrawing our request for blacktopping the road."

The supervisors also received a request from a Catahoula Community resident to purchase "industrial property for a 'spreader-grader' device factory."

J.C. Seal introduced his patented "Byonic Blayde" with a film presentation at the Monday meeting.

The device attaches to the rear hydraulic lift on a tractor.

"I've got to have new facilities to put up a plant and we want our plant in Hancock County if possible," Seal stated.

Wehre said, "I'm glad to hear that." Seal reported, "The problem is, we have to move into a bigger shop."

The Catahoula resident said he employs nine people to construct his invention in a carport and he has backorders for 28 "blaydes."

"We need a 60-foot by 80-foot building and about two acres to start off with," Seal reported.

Wehre suggested, "If you want to put up your own building, we have property at Port Bienville Industrial Park."

Seal said he would prefer higher land than available in Port Bienville which would not flood in severe storms. The Catahoula resident said he would move in delicate equipment which could not be moved in the event of a hurricane.

Wehre reported, "At Stennis we have some land behind the old McKee Door plant, but there's no paved road yet."

"We could possibly have a building available at Port Bienville too, which is on high land," Wehre added.

Regarding the revised Bayou Cadet harbor basin project, Wehre recommended that the supervisors place the U.S. Corps of Engineers' plan in abeyance.

The revised plan reduces the size of the basin, but increases required funding from the county.

"The Corps asked for an expression of the supervisor's desire regarding this project," Wehre said.

"I do think it is proper to respond and ask the Corps to place the basin plan in abeyance," the director recommended. "I don't think the plan should be scuttled," he stated.

"We're not in a position to sign new assurances," Wehre added.

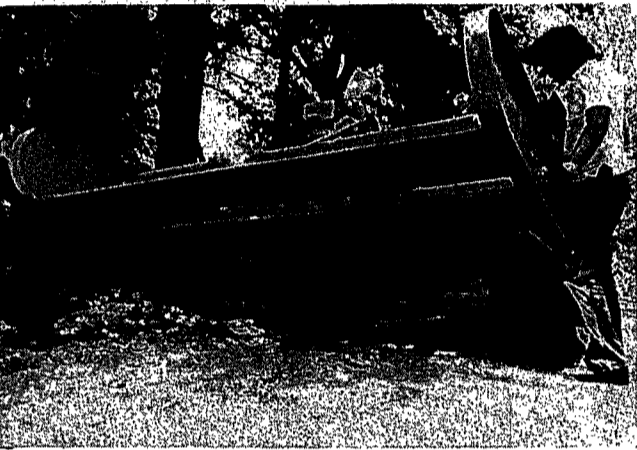

In reference to overlay paving on three Bay St. Louis streets by the supervisors, County Engineer Lawrence Seal of Piquette said the city could not perform preliminary base work on the roads.

The three city roads to be paved are Washington, Kellar and Sycamore Streets.

Board Attorney Walter Gex recommended the city procure professional services to prepare the roads for paving.

Dillard said the largest number of visitors with Mississippi destinations in July, excluding in-state travelers, came from five states which are, in numerical order, Louisiana, Texas, California, Alabama and Florida.

The welcome center manager could not explain why so many visitors from such a relatively distant state as California were stopping at the I-10 facility.

"The California travelers are listing destinations all over the state," she reported.

California was also the sixth highest state so far as the number of tourists stopping at the welcome center.

Most of the visitors stopping at the center during July, in numerical order, reside in Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi, Florida and Florida.

Landscaping work underway at the I-10 facility will be completed soon.

Dillard said, "All trees and shrubs will be planted by November."

Staff at the welcome center recently received new uniforms.

Dillard said the uniforms include a river blue vest and pants with a teal blue blouse. A teal blue skirt is also included for an alternate uniform.

The center's summer hours of 8 a.m.-8 p.m. will end on Labor Day. Winter hours will be from 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

All Mississippi welcome centers are under the direction of the Mississippi Department of Economic Development.

Waveland police clear burglaries

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Within the last week, Robert Tartavouille, Waveland police investigator, reports his office has cleared up five robberies with the arrest of four persons.

Ronald Henry, 21, Pass Christian; Jimmie Lee Mercer, 21, 1105 Rue De Lasalle, Waveland; Arthur Saucier, 20, and Julius Saucier, 20, both of Bay St. Louis, were charged with the alleged burglaries, according to Tartavouille.

The houses broken into during the burglaries dated back to May, 1979, police said.

The four were booked at the Hancock County Jail and charged with burglary and will appear before Waveland City Court Judge Lucien Gex.

The burglaries all occurred in Waveland.

Larry Jackson, 19, Waveland, was also arrested and charged with a concealed weapon, as he was on probation and is being held without bond, Tartavouille said.

The burglaries were investigated by Tartavouille and Investigator Sandra Henley, also of the Waveland Police Department.

Bay High student completes NSTL apprenticeship

NASA's Summer Research Apprenticeship Program concluded Aug. 7 with the five area students giving an individual report on their work and experiences at the National Space Technology Laboratories.

Darryl Brigle, a student at Bay St. Louis High School, reported on his work in the Calibrations and Standards Laboratories and also his work in flood plains research.

The student reporting session included a slide program, graphics, materials used during the summer as well as written reports.

Some 35 supervisors, laboratory directors and administrative personnel attended the meeting.

On July 27, the parents of the summer students were invited to a meeting at NSTL.

Jerry Brown and Clyde Dease, NSTL program coordinators, headed the meeting which featured a telephone conversation with Curtis Graves, NASA's Chief of Education and Community Services.

During the conversation Graves said, "NASA has been made richer because of this summer program."

Auxiliary offers aid to underprivileged kids

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Representatives of the Bay St. Louis Junior Auxiliary, at a Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District Board of Trustees regular meeting Monday night, requested permission to distribute school supplies to "underprivileged" children attending classes this fall.

Board Attorney Lucien Gex of Waveland stated, "We'll arrange a meeting as quickly as we can with the teachers."

Following a presentation by Auxiliary Educational Project Chairman Nanette Murphree of Waveland, the board and Superintendent of Education J.D. McCulloch agreed the request is an "administrative matter."

In explaining the group's project, Murphree stated, "The primary emphasis in this project is on the underprivileged children. Some children can't afford school supplies."

"We want approval to meet with the elementary faculty to offer bags of school supplies to children," Murphree requested.

"We have in mind to offer these children paper, pencils, rulers, school bags and other essential school supplies," she added.

Auxiliary Secretary Lane Noonan stated, "We are asking to attend the upcoming faculty meeting so we can present this project to the teachers."

McCulloch replied, "The teacher orientation strictly deals with school matters."

"We will have an 'overall meeting' at 2 p.m. during the orientation day, but I think we have policy relating to this. ...if we invite one group to this meeting then we have to invite them all," the superintendent explained.

Murphree reported, "Each school principal works with teachers to provide us with a list of the number of students needing school supplies."

"The names of the children are not revealed," she added.

Murphree said Thursday morning the organization has begun collecting donations from local businesses and the organization will sponsor fund raising projects to raise money for extra items.

"The purpose of our project is to keep each child's self respect up by providing him or her with the same materials other children have," the project chairman explained.

Hospital.....CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1A

Johnson and Gilmore refused comment on the matter, and Chevils, Rutherford, and Nodruft were unavailable for comment Wednesday.

In another development Wednesday, Johnson said the board voted at Tuesday's meeting to open its future meetings to the press.

The action by the board follows last week's vote banning a representative of the Sea Coast Echo from covering an "informal work session" between the hospital board and the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

Also last week, Edith Back, "Daily Herald" Bay Bureau chief, presented the board with a letter signed by herself and Herald Editor Jim Lund, requesting the press be allowed to cover the meetings.

"I presented (Back's) letter to the board, and after each member discussed the issue, every board member but one voted to allow press coverage," Johnson said Wednesday.

Board Member Robert Baxter abstained from voting, Johnson added. Also Wednesday, Gilmore said John Holderman, director of nurses, had been "relieved of his duties" at the hospital Monday.

Gilmore refused further comment on the firing of Holderman.

Holderman also Wednesday refused to elaborate on the firing, noting "it is not good to carry out an issue like this in the community."

"(Gilmore) didn't have to give a reason for firing me. I asked for a letter of explanation, but I am still waiting," Holderman said.

"I am confident this action is no reflection on my nursing ability. This is a personality conflict," Holderman continued.

"It is my desire that things may be ironed out and I be allowed to return to the hospital in a nursing position. The hospital desperately needs nurses," he added.

Hancock boxing judges attend safety workshop

Six future judges and referees from Hancock County attended an Amateur Athletic Union boxing clinic conducted in Ocean Springs Sunday.

Heading the clinic was Frank Gerald, newly elected SAAU boxing chairman from Metairie, La. Gerald addressed the prospective officials on boxing safety.

Attending the workshop from Hancock County were Herbert Shlyou, Kiln; Jack Norwood, Bay St. Louis; Rudy Escarby, Bay St. Louis; Francisco (Ringo) Alvarado, Bay St. Louis; John Whisenhunt, Bay-Kiln-Waveland Boxing Club coach from Waveland; and Nicky Slade of Bay St. Louis.

Slade, a boxer with the Bay-Kiln-Waveland Club and an off-shore oil worker, was recently released from Sidel Memorial Hospital where he was treated for injuries resulting from a fall while working off-shore, according to Coach Whisenhunt.

Slade will return to the ring this year as a heavyweight after missing most of last season due to a medical problem.

Heading the referee and judging staff this year will be August Scafid and Robert (Ribbit) Ladner.

Scafid has more than 40 years of experience coaching, training, and officiating boxing in South Mississippi. Ladner is a former amateur boxer, coach and trainer, in addition to being a former high school basketball coach. Ladner and Alvarado will head up the referee staff.

"Dr. M.J. Wolfe Sr. will oversee all boxing in Hancock County, according to Whisenhunt.

Boxing Chairman Gerald has sent a telegram to Mississippi Governor William Winter requesting a determination if a recent event staged at the Coast Coliseum was an amateur event.

If the event, billed as an amateur fight, is deemed not to have been an actual amateur fight, Mississippi Gulf Coast boxing teams will face having their SAAU sanctions revoked, Whisenhunt said.

"No Bay-Kiln-Waveland Boxing Club official had any part of the fight at the Coliseum," Whisenhunt said. Whisenhunt said Jim Fiebert of St. Louis, Mo. recently donated 16 steel plates for the corner posts of a boxing ring the club is constructing.

"We are still looking for donations of 2X6 inch boards for the floor of the ring," Whisenhunt said.

"Our hats are also off to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson, County Agent John Smith, and Walter Turcotte, president of the Hancock County Fairgrounds. These men donated the use of the fairgrounds building for our first home match Oct. 4," he continued.

"Anyone interested in making a donation or joining the boxing team, call 467-2981 or come by the Disabled American Veterans Hall at 111 Main Street, Bay St. Louis," the coach added.

Pre-season confusion

PRJC gridiron practice opens

The 1980 football season officially began in Poplarville Monday for the Pearl River Wildcats as 70 players reported for the week-long endurance test of two-a-day workout.

The first practice began at 9:30 a.m., but most of the players were on the field by 8:45.

"They are really eager beavers," Head Coach J.C. Arban said as he shouted instructions to his new managerial staff.

Arban's office was nothing but a thoroughfare Monday afternoon, and it was quite obvious that all the little things that make for a smooth running session had not been ironed out Monday.

"Everyone has to become accustomed to how we do things around here," Arban said as the phone rang and a manager shouted, "Is this the bucket we use?"

The first practice session was hot and humid and these conditions did take their toll on a couple of players.

"Everyone is in pretty good shape...I mean, I think they are. It is really hard to tell from what we did this morning," Arban said.

"Arban said his staff put the Wildcats through conditioning drills, and worked on putting in some of the basic fundamental plays.

"Of course, our sophomores made a few things run a lot smoother because they know what is happening," Arban said.

A week ago the PRJC skipper had anticipated a turnout of some 80 players, but only 70 showed up Monday.

"Only 70...that is still plenty to do what we need to do," Arban said.

Actually, only two of the no-shows will be missed immediately. Yancey McNeil, a sure starter, did not show up, and Hollis Payton, a freshman from West Marion, did not report either.

"McNeil had grade problems, but I really thought he had that straightened out. I guess Payton decided not to play football this fall or transferred somewhere else," Arban said.

The coach did take time to point out that two Columbia players he thought would not be with the Wildcats this fall, showed up at the appointed time Sunday afternoon.

"Shoot, it just tickled me to death to see Lewis (Donnie) and Oatis (Ray Charles) walk in that door. They are both big and strong and will help us this year," Arban said.

"We're going to be pretty doggone strong unless a lot of people get hurt. We have maybe ten big linebackers who are going to be mean, and I like that a lot," he continued.

"We have some meat up front that can move, and we have some depth, too," Arban added.

Former SSC coach at Brother Martin

Brother Martin High School in New Orleans, La. has named three new coaches to its 1980 football coaching staff, according to Crusader Athletic Director Jack Schommer. Joining the Martin staff are Mike Materne, Emile Fair, and Mick Lagattuta. All are 1971 graduates of Brother

Martin High.

Fair and Materne are both former players under Bob Conlin while at Brother Martin. Materne attended Tulane University. He was awarded a football scholarship by the Green Wave and played defensive tackle in 1971.

Materne, a resident of Bay St. Louis, was a member of the St. Stanislaus High School faculty teaching math, science, and physical education from 1978 to 1980.

He was also a member of that school's football and basketball coaching staffs.

He completed his football eligibility at Nicholls State University, where, as a senior, he helped lead Nicholls to the Gulf States Conference Championship at his defensive tackle position.

Materne attended UNO in 1978 and received his BS in physical education and in health and safety education, as well as receiving his teacher certification in science.

Materne will coach football and track at Brother Martin in addition to being a member of the business and science departments.

Fair is former athletic director and chairman of the physical education department at Heritage Academy High School.

Lagattuta has been associated with Brother Martin's school and athletic department for the past five years.

for encouragement and enthusiasm. Players not present at the banquet were Clark Erelund, Virgil Swank, Larry Hopkins, Andrew Haas, and Pat Barnes. Bat Girls Pattie and Mollie Weems were also absent. (Staff photo-Ellis Cuevas)

Four sign with USM tennis team

University of South Mississippi Tennis Coach Larry (Doc) Harrington says three outstanding freshmen and a junior college standout will join the Golden Eagle squad for the 1980-81 season.

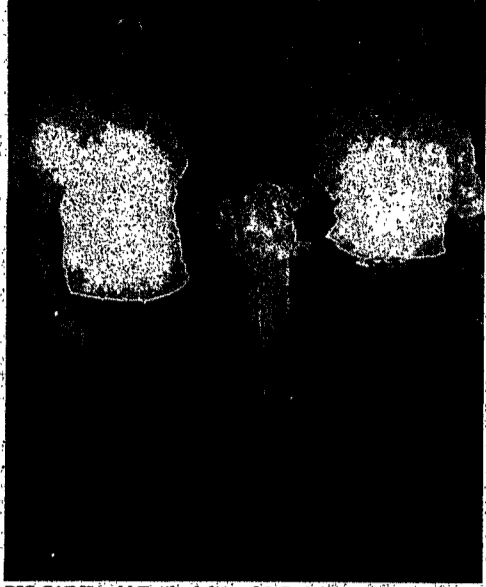

Alex Behar of Columbia, South America, is currently rated as one of the top junior players in that country.

Among his most recent victories is the Diamondhead Country Club Tournament in Bay St. Louis.

The other players on the list of newcomers are Scott Bradley from Hattiesburg High School, Joe Reynolds of Fayetteville, Tenn., and Junior college standout Stanley Ball from Chattahoochee Valley, Ala. Community College.

"We expect all four of our first-year players to challenge for regular positions on our team," Harrington said.

"With the players we have coming back and those we have added, we should have one of our stronger teams in the past few years," the coach added.

Hancock horse captures 15th race at Oak Downs

Special to the Sea Coast Echo
PEARL RIVER, LA.—A
Hancock County horse capped off Oak Downs' longest program since the track reopened two months ago as 15

races were run Sunday.

Oscar Mayer, owned and trained by Oswald Moran of the Kiln area, knocked off April's Injun, owned and trained by Paul Amacker of Poplarville.

Amacker, the track's leading trainer, had won two straight 100-yard races with his Omega Diana before getting quieted by the Moran horse in the 400-yard 15th
race.

Marty Comfort, a jockey from Kiln, posted a victory aboard Rabbit's Habit, owned and trained by Johnny Lingo of Pearl River in the seventh race.

JoAnn Boatwright of Cantonment, Fla., Oak
Downs' second leading jockey, moved closer to the first place Jeff Peterman (idle following a racing injury last week) with four victories for a total of 17. Peterman has ridden to 24 wins.

Sunday's top rider was Ray
Robbins of Grand Bay, Ala., who captured five races, including the two straight aboard Omega Diana.

OUTDOOR TOPICS

CLEAN FISH IMMEDIATELY

Do you know of a fisherman who would put a T-bone steak on a fish stringer and throw it over the side of his boat to hang in the water all day? Not likely.

But that's just what many anglers do to the fish they catch, and then they expect the meat to have a good flavor when it's eaten. Stringers, wire baskets, even live wells built into boats, should be used to hold fish only until they can be properly cleaned and put on ice, say the fishing experts at Mercury outboards.

Their experience has shown that fish cared for this way have a superior flavor to fish which have been held several hours before being cleaned.

A useful item aboard their boat is a home-made fish cleaning board.

It simplifies cleaning and makes it easy to get their catch on ice immediately after it is taken off the hook.

To make your own fish cleaning board, cut an 18-inch-length of 1 x 6 white pine.

Sand the edges to remove splinters and treat the board with several coats of marine varnish.

Mount a three-inch-wide, spring-loaded, metal paper clip at one end of the board so that it will hold a fish flat on the surface.

An aluminum clip is best, as it won't rust.

Now you have a solid platform for cleaning fish in your boat as they are caught.

Meanwhile, the cleaned fish is placed in a plastic bag and put on ice, ready for the skillet and guaranteed to taste good when it's cooked.

GRIDIRON GRABBERS

Green Bay Packers' end Max McGee scored the first touchdown in the first Super Bowl. He caught a 37-yard pass from quarterback Bart Starr in the Packers' 35-10 win over the Kansas City Chiefs in the January, 1967, game.

Norm Van Brocklin holds the all-time NFL record for yards gained passing in a single game. In 1951, he completed 27 passes out of 41 attempts for 554 yards and five touchdowns when the Los Angeles Rams beat the New York Giants.

Morning farm chores were completed before school

As I have gotten older I more often think back to the days 75 to 85 years ago when my family lived on a farm up in Jasper county, Miss. Queer thing about it is, I have a clearer memory of those youthful days than any other period of my life.

In my mind I compare those days with the present and what a difference!

Here's my memory of a day on the farm in the late fall of 1903. Compare this actual experience - a typical experience of that time - with a day now.

At the very first sign of the coming day in the eastern sky in the early morning every rooster on the farm where I lived would herald the approaching day with eager excited crowing. There is an old legend that the sun would not rise, or could not rise, unless first ordered to by the crowing of the roosters.

Maybe that old legend is not true but I do know that the sun never rose when I was a boy until the roosters had performed their ceremonial crowing. And, if the sun did not appear as quickly as a rooster thought it ought to, he would not like it at all and would with louder and more insistent crowing impatiently summon the sun to appear.

The crowing of the roosters was the signal for my father to get up. He would first build a fire in the fireplace in his and my mother's room.

Next he would go to the kitchen and soon have a fire going in the cook stove. He would then go out into the stock lot and feed the work stock - the horses and mules - so that they would have ample time to eat before being harnessed for the day's work.

Within a short time after my father got the fires going, my mother would get up, dress and go into the kitchen to cook the morning meal.

After doing her preliminary work in the kitchen and the fire in the fireplace had warmed up the room, she would hurry back into the bedroom and wake the children to give them time to get up, dress and wash their faces in time for breakfast and to help with many chores. Children too young to go to school or to help around the place were not awakened.

On cold mornings, the children would rush in to dress before the warm fire in our parents room. In case any of the children delayed in getting up - just could not summon enough will power to get out of a warm bed - my mother would make one more trip to the bedrooms to be sure everyone was stirring.

The children would hear her coming this second time, jump out of the bed and rush to the warm fire, for they knew they would be in for trouble if caught under the covers after the earlier call to arise.

In the early morning, our house was a bee hive of activity. As soon as they were dressed, the boys brought in enough wood to keep the fireplace fire going during the day and enough stove wood to cook the noon meal.

If the fireplace wood was not already cut, then it was out job to chop it up into the right lengths. My father usually cut down oak trees of the right size, trimmed them up and hauled them to the house to be cut into wood for the fireplace with an axe or a saw.

The stove wood was split from blocks from pine trees sawed into right length, then hauled to the wood shed to be split up as needed, or to be split and stacked on rainy days when nothing else much could be done.

Another twice a day job for the boys in the morning and the late afternoon was to milk the cows. Milk and butter were important parts of the food for the family. Most of the year the cows got their feed from the pastures, but in the fall they were turned in on the fields after the corn, peas, etc. had been harvested. Both the cows and the hogs would get rolling fat from running in the fields where there was always unharvested corn, peas, potatoes, etc.

While the boys were busy at their tasks, the girls were helping our mother prepare the breakfast, setting the table, sweeping the floors, making up the beds and doing other things that have to be done around a home. There was always plenty for everybody to do around our old home.

Our father was just as busy as our mother and the rest of us. After feeding the work animals he would "slop" the hogs being fattened in the pen to be butchered, and shuck corn to throw in their pen, and attend to other duties around the place.

"Slopping" the hogs may need some explanation for young folks. A big bucket was kept in the kitchen into which all food scraps were thrown, including the "leavings" from the dining table, the left overs, etc.

Also, the dishwasher was poured into the slop bucket. This "slop" was carried out to the hogs and poured into a trough for the hogs to eat. They really loved it too.

With the morning tasks completed, the children hurried off to school so as to arrive there by 8 o'clock. Fortunately for her, we lived about 1/4 mile from the school and our mother did not have to prepare noon lunches as we could easily return home at noon. Late in the day there was another time of much activity preparing for the coming of night.

'CHICKEN LITTLE' PARANOIA

Remember Chicken Little, the little storybook fowl which was struck by a falling acorn and interpreted the incident to mean that the sky was falling?

Well, other noggins have been hit time and time again, but the sky still hasn't crumbled about us - nor has the Chicken Little paranoia bit the dust despite the repeated raptures of a parade of doomsday myths.

The latest joust against agricultural chemicals is now over in Mississippi, but not before these necessary products were maligned again. When a wildlife observer on the Gulf Coast's Least Tern Refuge observed that a number of tern chicks had died in their rookery and others were not well, the word was passed to the public that toxic chemicals were suspected of entering the food chain of the terns, causing the malady. False. The chicks were victims of the torrid sun burning down on the white sand while temperatures soared to record levels this summer. Finally the record was cleared. Agricultural chemicals had nothing to do with it.

This type of thing has been going on quite a spell now - branding agriculture guilty until proven innocent.

Back in 1959 a new weed-killer used by cranberry growers started this paranoia. The scare came about when a few growers did not stop spraying soon enough and a small trace of amino triazole was suspected in some of the crop - actually in less than .34 percent of the crop. But, then secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Arthur Flemming warned consumers not to eat cranberries with their Thanksgiving turkeys that year for fear cancer might result.

After the damage was done to the cranberry farmers, an Oregon State University researcher, Dr. Virgil Freed, concluded that the cranberries could have been eaten every day of the year without adverse effects.

Then came Rachel Carson with her "Silent Spring" bestseller in 1962. She zeroed in on DDT and her book resulted in a virtual ban of DDT sales in 1972. DDT was blamed for thin eggshells in birds, pollution of mothers' milk, lack of female fertility, etc. More ominously, it was charged with destruction of the world's food chain.

Poppycock! DDT was not and is not responsible for any of these. DDT has not caused the death of a single human being as far as it is known, yet contrarily it has spared untold millions of lives from epidemics of such insect-borne diseases as malaria. Dr. James Wright of the World Health Organization credits

DDT with saving the lives of at least two billion people without causing the loss of a single life.

Dr. Paul Mueller was awarded the Nobel prize in 1948 for discovery of the lifesaving effects of DDT. In 1970 Dr. Norman Borlaug got the Nobel prize for his efforts at easing world hunger. The scientist said, "without DDT and other important agricultural chemicals, our goal of feeding the world is simply unattainable, and starvation and world chaos will result."

The decade of the 70's has seen fire ant baits such as Mirex banned because, large numbers of modern Chicken Littles considered it unsafe in the environment. Meanwhile human lives continue to be lost or maimed because of sensitivity of certain individuals to fire ant stings.

Now comes the parade of supposed victims of forestry spraying operations claiming miscarriages and malformation of human parts. And on the heels of that we too have some Vietnam vets presenting their claims against Agent Orange.

Again, scientific evidence remains heavily on the side of disproof of these assertions - all of which makes us wonder if, amid the paranoia, Chicken Little's real name isn't "sue."

Hancock Vo-Tech sets secretarial schedule

Registration for a Secretarial Science Course is set for 9 a.m. Tuesday, August 26, at the Pearl River Junior College-Hancock County Vo-Tech Center.

Secretarial Science is a two-semester (nine-month) college level course which offers the following curriculum: business English, typewriting, business math, office machines, filing, shorthand, business communications, machine transcription, accounting, and secretarial practice.

Certificates of Proficiency will be awarded to students who successfully complete the one-year course.

Students wishing to continue their training in the secretarial science field may transfer credits to the Poplarville campus where they may earn associate degrees after successfully completing a second year in the program.

Student aid is available to those who qualify in the form of government guaranteed loans and grants.

For further information, contact Woody Pearce, Vo-Tech counselor, at 467-3568.

Confederate gravesite relocation cancelled

The proposed relocation of gravesites for 627 Confederate and Union unknown soldiers in the Grafton, West Virginia, Veterans Administration National Cemetery has been cancelled.

This was announced recently by Max Cleland, VA Administrator, who said he has instructed Carl T. Noll, head of the agency's Department of Memorial Affairs, to explore with state and community officials other possible ways to create additional gravesites for West Virginia veterans.

The small Grafton National Cemetery was established shortly after the Civil War primarily to accommodate the relocation of 1,261 soldiers who were buried in nearby battlefield cemeteries and reinterred in the Grafton cemetery. It is the only national cemetery in the state and has been closed to burials for more than 19 years.

Noll said the plan to again relocate the remains of the 627 unknown Civil War veterans in a large single grave at Grafton and mark the site with a large permanent memorial of honor would have made available nearly a third of the tiny cemetery for new burials of honorably discharged veterans.

The plan had been endorsed by community leaders, the West Virginia Congressional delegation and the Governor.

USM registration begins Aug. 25

Registration for the University of Southern Mississippi campus in Hattiesburg has been set for Aug. 25-26.

Special registration for students who attended one of the summer Mini Quarter sessions will be held at 1 p.m.

Aug. 24.

Students with specific room assignments should report to campus Saturday, Aug. 23. Those with no definite assignments should report Aug. 24. Dorms will be open 8-5 both days.

Regular registration will begin at 8:30 Aug. 25, and at 8 a.m. the 26th. All registrations will be held in the Reed Green Coliseum.

Orientation for new students who did not attend Mini Quarter will be held from 8-10 a.m. Aug. 25.

Regular classes will begin at 8 a.m. Aug. 27, and will end Dec. 8.

Welcome Wagon Club event will benefit local Humane Society

The Hancock County Welcome Wagon Club is an organization dedicated to providing service to the Bay-Waveland community.

To further this goal, the club will present a style show and luncheon at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club at noon, September 10.

Proceeds from this benefit will go to assist the Bay-Waveland Humane Society.

Fashions and accessories will be provided by Snippers II, The Rose, and The Flower Shop.

Tickets can be purchased from The Rose, Snippers II, or by calling 467-1709 or 467-6101.

Use of food coupons can lower grocery bills

Enthusiasm over cashing coupons, writing for refunds and otherwise using manufacturers' offers to reduce family food costs is high across the country.

Ann Rushing, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service marketing specialist, has some advice in reply to numerous consumer inquiries. Here it is:

Everybody's clipping coupons these days to help fight rising food costs. And it works when you use the coupons wisely.

Understand coupons. They are the manufacturer's way of introducing new products and offering you opportunities to buy your favorite products at lower prices.

Why don't manufacturers simply price their products lower on the grocer's shelves? Government regulations forbid them to specify prices; only the food store manager can do that. So, you'll find increasing numbers of coupons in magazines and newspapers and in your mail. Keep a coupon file. A used envelope will do. (That's an economy, too.) Clip your coupons together by location of the products in your supermarket. Carry them with your money or checkbook every time you shop. Plan your shopping and menus to take best advantage of coupons.

Coupons save money only if you use them selectively for products you really use or want to try. Impulse buying wastes money, she stresses.

If you trade coupons with friends, check first for geographical area of use. Many are not valid except in certain areas.

Be sure to use coupons before their expiration dates and only for the products for which they are intended. Misuse of coupons means higher costs for everyone, Mrs. Rushing adds.

Student eye exams recommended as school year begins

Because one out of four American youngsters entering school has some sort of eye disorder, the Miss. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Association urges parents to schedule their young children now for pre-school medical eye examinations.

Older children, too, often need check-ups prior to resumption of classes, particularly those approaching junior high school who are at an age when rapid growth occurs and vision can change, according to these physicians who specialize in medical eye care.

"Many children are not aware that they are not seeing as they should, either because certain conditions show no apparent symptoms or because the child has no reference point and doesn't realize his vision is impaired," advises John L.

Pendergrass, M.D., a Hattiesburg ophthalmologist and vice-president of the Miss. EENT Association.

Dr. Pendergrass, the father of three, points out, "There are certain stages in a child's development when a medical eye examination is particularly important, even critical, to stem conditions which often can lead to severe vision damage or even blindness in one or both eyes."

Dr. Pendergrass explains: "Two major eye problems affect children: amblyopia or 'lazy eye' where one eye is favored over the other, and misaligned eyes (turning in or out). In many cases, unless treatment is initiated at an early age, correction of these problems is not medically possible."

"Most ophthalmologists feel children should have a medical eye examination by age three and one-half, provided post-natal examinations by their pediatricians show no abnormalities," says Dr. Pendergrass. "Tragically, many parents feel that conditions of crossed eyes or eyes not aligned will correct themselves in time. Sometimes this does happen, but the child remains handicapped for life to one degree or another, usually with amblyopia, even though the eyes look straight."

Many eye problems which go undetected show up when school begins, he adds, because of new demands placed upon the child and his eyes.

"Most of a pre-schooler's effort is with games, books and toys within arm's length, requiring the child to concentrate on objects relatively close to the eye."

"In school, these youngsters must focus on audio-visual material and blackboards at great distances - conditions which sometimes bring indications of eye problems." Dr. Pendergrass also notes that nearsightedness (myopia) may develop at any age but is often first discovered in children in the third to sixth grades, and glasses are needed to see the blackboard.

Adolescence, too, is a time of often rapid changes in the eye which require a medical eye examination. It is also a good idea to have a complete medical eye examination before leaving for college. The college-bound student who is leaving home for the first time should have a copy of his prescription in his possession in case of an emergency.

I Scream. You Scream. We All Scream For—Chocolate—Ice Cream

Rich, cooling, luscious, almost wickedly delicious...home-made ice cream is part of what summer "dreams" are made on. If you remember helping turn the crank—and licking the paddles—as a child, one taste is a ticket to nostalgia. Today, this treat is just as special—maybe more so. And it's simple to surprise everybody with extra-good chocolate ice cream, the hands-down favorite, made from pure, fresh ingredients—in your refrigerator freezer. Just follow the easy directions below. Add chopped nuts or fruit at the "mush" stage, if you wish—ladle into dishes, scoop out cones, or create an elegant parfait. It's practically foolproof, when you start with a base of unsweetened cocoa—chocolate in very concentrated form so ice cream, and lots of other recipes too, will be deeper, more intensely "chocolate" in flavor. And since you don't have to melt cocoa—it's ready to use right from the can—you shortcut preparation time, eliminate the messy pre-melting step. That's a big plus, particularly in the good ole summertime! (To use an electric or crank-type freezer, simply follow the manufacturer's instructions.)

SUPER-RICH HOMEMADE CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM
(About 1½ quarts)
½ cup Hershey's Cocoa
¼ cup sugar
1 cup milk
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon vanilla
2 cups heavy cream
¼ cup sugar

Combine cocoa and ¼ cup sugar in small saucepan. Gradually blend in milk and egg yolks. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture just approaches boiling. Do not boil. Remove from heat, cool. Stir in vanilla. Pour into refrigerator tray or 9-inch square pan. Freeze until "mushy," about 1 hour. Whip cream in large mixer bowl; add ¼ cup sugar and beat until stiff. Spoon chocolate mixture into small chilled mixer bowl; beat until smooth. Fold into whipped cream. Place bowl in freezer or pour into square pan. Freeze several hours until firm. Stir occasionally during first hour.

Hancock County United Way supports Senior Volunteers

and Charles Ladner.

Assisting senior citizens through the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, which channels the energy and experience of volunteers 60-years-old and above into activities which provide a contribution to the community, is just one way the Hancock County United Way funds needed services in this area.

Some 300 senior citizen volunteers are now working to supply services to Hancock County through RSVP.

Other agencies supported by the United Way are the Hancock County Emergency Relief Fund, the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center, The Mississippi Council on Epilepsy, the Hancock County Chapter of the American Red Cross, and the Hancock County Blood Bank.

Also, the Senior Citizen Programs, Catholic Social Services, Salvation Army, Goodwill Industries, United Servicemans Organization, Gulf Pines Council Girl Scouts, Cypress District Boy Scouts, and Firemen's Doll and Toy Fund.

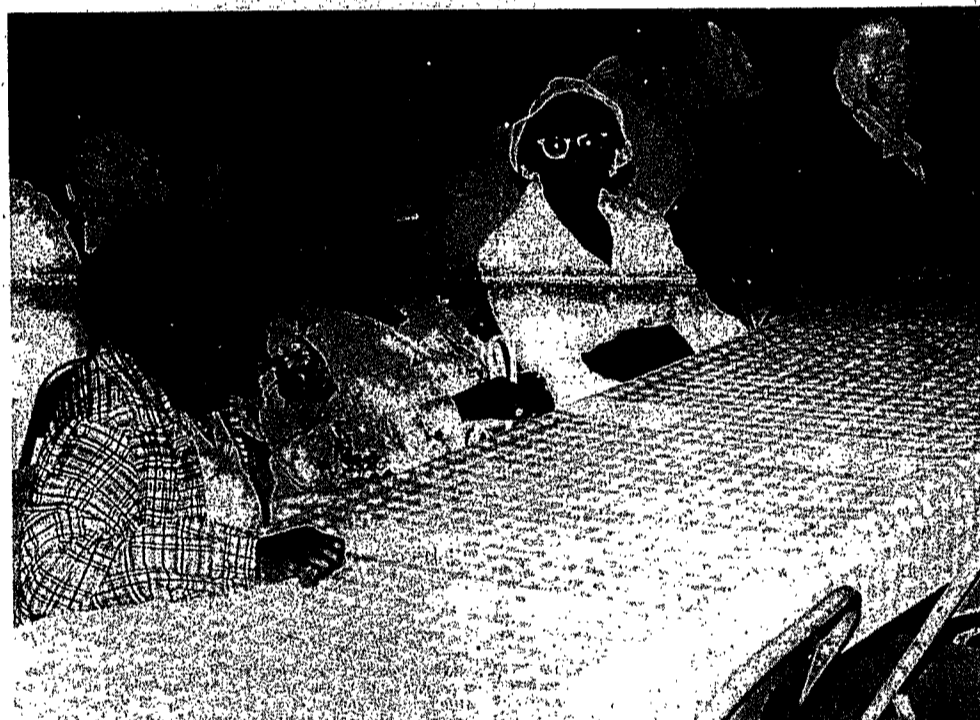

The 1980 United Way Fund Drive is underway now in Hancock County, with a goal of $40,000 this year.

USDA plans public meet

Citizens of Hancock County will have an opportunity to comment on the future of the nation's agriculture at a public meeting August 28 at 7 p.m. in Farm Bureau office in Kiln, according to C.T. Favre, Soil and Water Conservation District chairman and Harry Patterson, district conservationist, Soil Conservation Service.

This public meeting is the last of a series of four Resource Conservation Act meetings held to gather information on the future needs and problems of agriculture in Hancock County Favre added. The Act directed the United States Department of Agriculture to appraise the condition of the Nation's renewable natural resources and to purpose alternative conservation programs to guide the nation's future programs, Patterson explained.

In the earlier meetings, five major concerns were adopted to cover the major problems of the county as related to agriculture.

The major concerns are wetlands, recreation, land use, soil erosion, and forestland. Emphasis will be placed in these areas through public information, conservation education and working with local government agencies closer.

A publication due to be out by October will explain in detail the objectives of each major concern. Each concern was discussed by a committee of local people to obtain more input and to help organize the action to be taken in the future.

This will give the citizens of the county a better understanding of the future direction of agriculture and farm related activities.

Town and country citizens are asked to attend, Favre stated.

For information, contact the Soil Conservation service at 467-5108.

STINK BAIT
A dedicated catfisherman is likely to have a troubled home life.

That's because he stays out all night, and when he does come home, he smells so bad even his dog doesn't want to let him into the yard.

Catfishing is a lot of fun, but you have to follow some rules in order to be successful.

For one thing, the best catfishing occurs after the sun has gone down, because that is when catfish become active feeders.

This brings about the second rule of catfishing, says Mercury outdoors' fishing department, which is that you must use some form of stink bait to catch fish.

As an example, some of the best stink baits are made of rotten meat.

A favorite method is to fill a jar with pieces of shad (forage fish found in many reservoirs), screw the lid down and let the mess sit for several days.

You'll know it's ready when you open the lid.

The same thing can also be done with chicken entrails or pork liver.

If you choose the latter, add a few drops of anise oil to improve the scent (for the fish, that is).

Another catfishing rule is to put your bait on the bottom of the river or lake and leave it in one place.

In a river, fish above a deep hole so the bait smell drifts downstream.

Catfish "taste" the water with sensitive barbels at the mouth, and will follow a scent to your bait.

Despite the unpleasant odor of stink bait, catfishing is fun and your catch is good to eat.
Try it sometime.

SHIPPERS AND SHOALS

In the backward flow or ebb tide of current agricultural fortunes, American farmers see economic shoals ahead in the mainstream of both domestic and international shipping channels, and are asking the U.S. Congress to delay new legislation which could scuttle this nation's chief source of trade.

Agriculture is the only remaining bright spot in the fading limelight of American economic productivity - yet this lone glimmer may be eclipsed by escalating costs beyond competitive market levels.

Several threats lie ahead for agricultural shipping that could well upset the thin balance between profit and loss, involving both overseas carriers and domestic vessels.

One of these already grating against the thin competitive edge between nations in international trade is a proposal now before the U.S. Congress that interferes with the free selection of shippers for farm commodities moving both out and into this country.

Known in agricultural and industrial circles as the "Cargo Preference Act," this law now up for possible modification already requires U.S. shippers to consign a high percentage of their cargoes aboard American flag vessels at higher than market rates. This act, P.S. 664, is part of the Omnibus Maritime Bill, H.R. 6899, which, if modified in accordance with recent recommendations, would encourage and authorize the Secretary of Commerce to make bilateral shipping agreements with foreign countries in excess of provisions already enforced through the Cargo Preference Act.

Under the current act, half of P.S. 480 and Export-Import Bank financed cargoes must be transported on American flag vessels at rates that usually are higher than those of foreign flag vessels.

And while such favoritism of U.S. carriers may seem on the surface to be idealistically good, the ring through the economy is a discordant one in view of the added cost to subsidize American shipping. The padded wage philosophy and trend fits the debilitating mold which went a long way toward casting the financial downfall of American railroads.

American farmers believe that such bilateral shipping agreements imposed on trans-ocean shipping could soon put U.S. farmers at a competitive disadvantage that would be ruinous - especially if new agreements were to extend the cargo preference requirements to commercial sales of farm commodities.

Farmers hope the proposal will self-destruct after an emasculation of the original bill by the House Ways and Means Committee and the House Judiciary Committee. It was changed to a degree that the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, which developed the bill, will now reconsider whether or not to send the proposal to the House floor. It may well abort with strong economic sanctions against it.

Meanwhile, the nation's domestic barge fleet has a case of the worries over a proposed regulation by the U.S. Coast Guard supposedly to help the environment as far as oil spills are concerned.

This idea would require that by 1985 all tank barges carrying petroleum-based products must have double hulls or be outlawed from the nation's waterways. To pay for the double hulling, shippers would be forced to raise rates to all clients to ante up an estimated $2.8 billion to finance the hull conversions.

Today the U.S. barge industry serves 87 percent of U.S. cities with 24,837 dry cargo barges and 3,770 tank barges. These vessels move more than 640 tons of freight annually. Of this tonnage 39 percent is petroleum-based and 30 percent is agricultural.

The barge folks are squawking too because in addition to the time, trouble and expense of conversion to double hulled vessels, the barge business would lose some of its operators more disposed toward shutting up than putting up in view of other channel blocks ahead.

If the double hull proponents win out, it will likely require tens of millions of additional gallons of fuel annually to push the heavier vessels.

The barge industry, which in the past has afforded the cheapest transportation rate for agricultural products, also faces in October the imposition of a gallon fuel tax on all fuel used by the propelling engines of its vessels. This tax is set to go up two cents per year for the next five years. Then, for the next five years the fees will be assessed on the cost of construction projects to service the barge shipping industry on the waterways.

Unless a valve is turned on these latest monetary spills proposed to flow toward Washington, modern writers may yet paraphrase a rhyme to contemporary mariners whose albatross encircled necks are overweighted with newly imposed subsidies and taxes.

Roger Eubanks, from Lucedale, is a Mississippi Brownbuilder—one of the men and women of Brown & Root—working for you in Mississippi.

Roger joined Brown & Root in 1975 working as an oiler and is now an equipment operator. He and his wife, Lisa, have three sons and attend the Cross Roads Methodist Church. Roger counts hunting and fishing among his favorite pastimes.

Mississippi Brownbuilders like Roger are working for you and thousands of your neighbors. They're helping to build the hardware, such as oil fields and power plants, which will help insure Mississippi's future growth and prosperity.

Because of Brown & Root's policy of hiring locally first, most of our Brownbuilders here are Mississippi natives or longtime residents. Many of them first joined Brown & Root at project personnel offices near their homes.

Brown & Root hires and promotes solely on the basis of individual ability and merit. Anyone willing and qualified is eligible to work. That way, local communities, counties and the state get maximum benefit from projects on which we work—hundreds of thousands of dollars in payrolls, purchases, savings and taxes.

Coast Guard accepting cadet applications

The United States Coast Guard Academy has announced that it is now accepting and processing applications for appointment as Cadet, U.S. Coast Guard, Class of 1985. Applications are being accepted from both men and women.

Appointments as Coast Guard Cadets are tendered solely on the basis of an annual nationwide competition with no congressional appointments or geographical quotas. Applications for appointment must be submitted to the Director of Admissions, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, prior to December 15, 1980.

Candidates must arrange to participate in either the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or American College Testing Assessment (ACT) prior to or including the December 13, 1980 administration for the ACT and the December 6, 1980 administration for the SAT.

The competition for appointment as Cadet is based on the candidate's high school rank, performance on either the SAT or ACT, and leadership potential as demonstrated by participation in high school extracurricular activities, community affairs and/or part-time employment.

Most successful candidates rank in the top quarter of their high school class and demonstrate proficiency in both the mathematical and applied science fields.

To qualify for the competition, an applicant must be unmarried at the time of appointment, have no legal obligations resulting from a prior marriage, and must have reached the age of 17 but not 22 by July 1, 1981.

All applicants must be assured of high school graduation by June 30, 1981. Applicants must have completed three units in English, and three in mathematics to include algebra and plane or coordinate geometry or their equivalents, and must fulfill basic physical and moral requirements.

Coast Guard Cadets obtain an excellent undergraduate education at no personal expense. In addition, they receive pay and allowances fully adequate to fulfill their ordinary living expenses.

The constantly updated Academy curriculum offers nine majors which include: electrical, civil, ocean and marine engineering; marine, mathematical and physical sciences; management and government. These areas of academic interest, combined with varied elective courses, establish a solid foundation for a challenging career.

Graduates of the Academy are awarded a Bachelor of Science degree and are commissioned as Ensigns in the United States Coast Guard. Selected officers may pursue further postgraduate education and specialized training at many leading civilian and military graduate or professional schools in such fields as aviation, business administration, electronics, engineering, law and oceanography.

Under the auspices of the Department of Transportation, the Coast Guard establishes and coordinates search and rescue operations by ship and plane, maintains advanced electronic and other aids to navigation scattered around the globe, operates the icebreakers which clear the way for all polar expeditions, and enforces marine law and all aspects of Merchant Marine safety.

In addition, the Coast Guard has responsibility for boating safety and marine environmental protection. Applications and additional information may be obtained by writing to: Director of Admissions, United States Coast Guard Academy, New London, Connecticut 06320.

Guard. Cook, a Bay St. Louis attorney, assumed the position of executive officer of Second Special Forces Battalion, Jackson. He was commander of Company A for 15 months. The Mississippi National Guard has two companies of Special Forces with one headquarters company in the state.

Patrol outlines driver's license suspension laws

Drivers in Mississippi are subject to having their license suspended by the Department of Public Safety if they are cited for a traffic violation and fail to appear in court or fail to settle their fine.

This warning came from Robert Salley, Director of the Driver Assistance Division of the Department of Public Safety.

Salley said in addition to being suspended for an unsettled traffic citation, drivers may also be suspended if they become involved in an automobile accident which results in $250 or more property damage and do not have liability insurance.

Drivers whose license are suspended under either law, will be required to pay the original traffic fine and show proof of liability insurance, plus pay a driver license reinstatement fee of $25 before having their driving privilege reinstated.

Salley said that the 1980 Session of the Mississippi Legislature, passed a law requiring the $25 reinstatement fee which became effective April 16, and includes all persons presently under suspension.

The bill which makes it mandatory that the Department of Public Safety impose a $25 reinstatement fee reads in part, "A fee of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) shall be charged for the reinstatement of a driver's license to every person whose license has been 'validly' suspended, revoked or cancelled."

According to Salley, the same holds true when licensed Mississippi drivers fail to pay tickets received in the states of Delaware, the District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Minnesota, North Carolina, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

These states, in addition to Mississippi, make up the Non-Resident Violator Compact (NRVC). When a licensed driver from one of the NRVC states fails to take proper disposition on a citation received in Mississippi the respective state is notified and the driver's license is suspended until a proper settlement is made.

Salley said, "Breaking traffic laws has become very expensive for the violator. If someone is ticketed and chooses not to pay the fine, his license is revoked. If he decides later he will pay the fine, he must pay the additional $25 reinstatement fee."

"Actions of this nature," Salley said, "may have a long-range effect on the driver since all violations become a part of that driver's file. When its time to renew insurance coverage, there is a possibility that the insurance company will request that driver's history from us. A large majority of insurance companies increase the premiums of their clients who have poor driving records."

Ole Miss sets registration

A record enrollment is expected when The University of Mississippi begins its 128th session this fall.

Dormitories will open Saturday, Aug. 23, for the fall term. New students who were not pre-assigned should register for orientation from 1-5 p.m. Sunday in the Lyceum building.

Orientation will begin at 8 a.m. Monday, Aug. 25, when Chancellor Porter L. Fortune Jr. will give the University's official welcome.

Students who were pre-assigned may complete registration in the Coliseum on Monday, Aug. 25, beginning at noon. Pre-assigned students who do not complete registration on Monday may enter the Coliseum only at their scheduled time Tuesday or Wednesday.

Regular registration for all students who are not pre-assigned is scheduled for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 25-27.

Classes begin Thursday, Aug. 28. No classes are scheduled for Labor Day, Sept. 1.

Fraternity and sorority rush activities are scheduled for the week of Aug. 22-29.

On Saturday, Sept. 6, the Ole Miss Rebels will open the 1980 football season with a night game in Jackson against Texas A & M University.

The fall semester will close on Thursday, Dec. 18.
